

WOLSEY LODGES

Purtington Barn

A hidden gem tucked away in a valley in the midst of some of the most beautiful countryside in Somerset awaits those in the know. The hamlet of Purtington is close to Cricket St Thomas and the once derelict barn was part of the estate. Elizabeth and Peter have spent three years on renovations to create the glorious home they now have and are justifiably proud of their achievement.

The house is decorated and furnished to the highest standard to provide a comfortable and welcoming experience for those fortunate people who arrive as guests and leave as friends. The bedrooms are spacious and beautifully decorated and the luxurious bathrooms are supplied with all the finishing touches one could wish for. Guests are welcome to relax in either sitting room.

Outside, there is a terrace and lawn leading to a stream and wildlife garden with a summer house for guests to relax in. The fields beyond are home to Elizabeth and Peters' horses, Shetland cattle and Kune Kune pigs. Elizabeth enjoys providing her guests with fabulous breakfasts, homemade cakes and imaginative dinners.

Your Hosts

Elizabeth and Peter are the most welcoming, friendly hosts. Peter is an engineer who now runs his own building company whilst Elizabeth is an interior designer, and the decoration of the barn and the design of the wonderful kitchen where guests enjoy breakfast pay testimony to this. They are both keen horse riders and share an interest in historic property and antiques.

The Location

There is so much to see and do in this area, with numerous walks on the doorstep, many through the Cricket St Thomas estate. The Jurassic coast is 30 minutes away. With Glastonbury Tor, Blackdown Hills, Cheddar Gorge and the Somerset Levels, Fleet Air Arm Museum, Forde Abbey, Montacute, and golf all within easy reach this is a region to return to time and again.

Finding Us

Take A30 from Chard towards Crewkerne, pass entrance to Cricket St Thomas Estate, then Windwhistle pub. After further 400m take small road hiding on right signed 'Purtington'. Follow single track road for ½ mile until it begins to rise and agricultural building with blue roof comes into view. Turn right through gate by blue Purtington Barn sign, follow track down
