Stody Hall

Visitors expecting Norfolk to be flat are surprised to discover that Stody is set amid rolling hills, meadows and streams. The handsome flint and brick Hall offers superb comfort in a magnificent setting.

Reception rooms echo the mood of English traditional elegance and the atmosphere is happy and relaxed. The drawing room with marble fireplace has huge sofas to snuggle down in after a day out. Enjoy a memorable breakfast with free range eggs, home made jams and marmalade in the elegant dining room, where occasionally English country style dinners are served in the evening.

All the bedrooms overlook the front of the house and have their own superb private bathroom.

Your Hosts

Charming people, Miriam is the daughter of a well known local farmer, and when not busy running the house, enjoys carriage driving. Her husband Andrew is now retired after spending 30 years in the film and television industry.

The Location

Whatever the weather, whatever the time of year, whatever you enjoy, North Norfolk has it all. Stable your horse and enjoy memorable riding or croquet in the walled garden. Walk across a buttercup meadow in the Glaven valley; play golf on the many local courses, sail, watch wildlife or relax on wonderful beaches only 15 minutes away. Or spoil yourself and let Miriam take you on a carriage drive in her phaeton along quiet country lanes.
