

WOLSEY LODGES

Chateau La Cour

South of Caen in the wooded Suisse Normande region, lies the pretty village of Culey le Patry. Chateau La Cour is the largest and oldest property hereabouts, dating back to the 13th century, its façade and interior richly evoking links with Richard the Lionheart.

Beautiful wood panelling, traditional tiled floors and elegant double doors decorated with cast iron work, complement the impressive stone staircase leading to three large bedrooms: 'Papillon' with its sumptuous king size double bed, sofa and private stairs leading to an en suite bathroom; the twin bedded 'Fleur de Lys' with Lloyd Loom chairs, writing desk and stunning en suite with king size bath; and the double 'Rosa' with en suite and window seat from which you can gaze endlessly at the Normandy landscape.

Candlelit four course dinners and informal three course suppers feature locally sourced ingredients with vegetables, herbs and fruits from the lovingly tended potager and wild mushrooms foraged from the forest; and Continental breakfasts of freshly baked pastries and homemade confiture, prove that the heart of French living is good food and wine. Vegetarians are very welcome!

Your Hosts

David and Lesley have created a piece of paradise. They enjoy meeting people and guests relish the real taste of relaxed Normandy life. They also offer a very special 'Christmas in Calvados' package which blends the finest French and English traditions - excellent food and wine, log fires and convivial company.

The Location

The area offers a range of outdoor pursuits, including golf and walking and is an excellent base for visiting sophisticated Honfleur, Deauville, Bayeux and the D-Day Landing Beaches. Mont St Michel and Monet's garden are also easily accessible.

Finding Us

From Caen or from the south, travel on the D562. At Pont de la Mousse, 5kms south of Thury Harcourt, take D133 for Culey le Patry over the river Orne. Turn left onto D166, then second right onto D211. La Cour is on right, on the approach to village, just after first minor road to the right.
