The Grove

A classic Georgian house surrounded by mature trees in a delightful, flower filled garden with six terraces, this tranquil refuge is a haven for animal and birdlife and is located only minutes from Bath's bustling and historic city centre. The accommodation has recently been lovingly restored and modernised with the emphasis on spaciousness, comfort and luxury and it reflects its owner's artistic background containing his collection of books, paintings and figurative sculptures as well as his main studio.

Surrounded by woods containing badgers and deer, the garden contains a wide variety of local and tropical flora and fauna as well as topiary. In the summer months breakfast can be taken out on the patio or the terrace where guests can often see hot air balloons passing overhead. There are a variety of walks nearby offering magnificent views over Bath and its surrounding countryside.

Your Hosts

Brought up in the Lake District, Robert retains a deep love of the English countryside but has also travelled extensively overseas. Robert now works as a figurative sculptor at The Grove and is happy to show guests around his studio at mutually convenient times. Dee was brought up in the Middle East and Scotland. She works in tourism marketing and is an excellent cook.

The Location

Bath has a wide variety of excellent shops and restaurants as well as music, art and literary festivals. Georgian Bath, immortalised by Jane Austen, is famous for its architecture, particularly the Royal Crescent, King's Circus, Bath Abbey and Prior Park. There are more than ten museums and art galleries, plus the spectacular Roman Baths, the new Bath Thermae Spa and the Theatre Royal. Within easy reach are many historic houses and gardens including Stourhead, Longleat and Lacock Abbey. Cheddar Gorge, Stonehenge and Salisbury are also an easy drive.
