WOLSEY LODGES

The Old Rectory

A long gravelled drive leads to this Grade II rectory, standing proudly on a hill next to the church, in this lovely Leicestershire village in the heart of fox hunting countryside. The building has many unique features, and was externally decorated using crests and stone figurines dating back to 1732.

Guests are greeted warmly and are offered welcoming afternoon tea served in the drawing room. An imposing oak staircase leads past guest dining rooms and lounge to a galleried landing and beautifully decorated king size, twin and single bedded en suite guest rooms - all with televisions, hospitality trays and quality toiletries.

The bedrooms overlook the traditional fruit orchard, formal topiary yew trees, landscaped flower beds and a walnut tree known to be grown from walnuts taken from a renowned Motte and Bailey castle mound in Hallaton in the 11th century.

Your Hosts

Tom has worked in a family owned textile business all his life. He is the past Master of a Livery Company of the City of London and his hobbies include old cars. Raili was a nursing sister and now they are both dedicated to making sure guests enjoy all their wonderful home has to offer.

The Location

The heart of England offers a wealth of historic houses and stately homes to discover. Rutland Water, Britain's largest man-made lake with bird watching, sailing, windsurfing, cycling and fly fishing is close by, not to mention Uppingham, Rockingham Castle and Althorp Hall, the Spencer Family home. The traditional “Bottle Kicking” village festival dating back to medieval times, takes place in Hallaton on Easter Monday.

Finding Us

Take the A47 from Uppingham and turn left at East Norton and follow signs, or take A6 from Market Harborough, turn right onto B6047. After 3 miles turn right. You will then come to Church Langton and follow signs to Hallaton.
