Tuggal Hall

Tuggal Hall is an attractive country house, surrounded by its own paddocks with horses and ponies, and is very much a family home, with plenty of opportunities to unwind. Guests have their own sitting room with open fire, which is traditionally furnished with comfortable sofas, chairs and antique furniture. The two bedrooms have south facing views, one with twin beds and the second room, with a five and a half foot double bed. Each room has its own private bathroom close by.

Your Hosts

Naomi Barrett has lived here since 1960 and her family grew up in this much loved house. A culinary treat awaits - local meat, game and fish are used on the menu and freshly caught lobsters are sometimes available in season and by prior arrangement. There is a traditional walled garden where much of the fruit and vegetables used in the cooking are produced.

The Location

Set on the Northumbrian coast, there are numerous castles to visit and fantastic walks both on the wonderful long beaches and in the Cheviot Hills nearby. The famous Alwick Water Gardens are within 15 minutes drive, and Holy Island is about 30 minutes drive. This is a significant area for birdlife - sea trips can be taken to the Farne Islands bird sanctuary. There are also 8 golf courses within 10 miles of the house.

Finding Us

Tuggal Hall is situated on the B1340 between the villages of Embleton and Beadnell, 10 miles north east of Alwick.
